How should I prepare for the MRI exam?

You may eat, drink and take regularly prescribed medications prior to the exam.

Please wear clothing loose enough to be pulled comfortably above your knee or elbow, depending on the type of exam.

If you are having your knee scanned, plan on bringing loose fitting shorts to change into for the exam.

How long will the exam take?

Our MRI exams usually take about an hour and fifteen minutes. Our radiologists have developed special extended protocols in order to provide great detail about your particular situation.

What happens during the exam?

You will sit in a reclining chair completely outside of the MRI system. Only the affected body part will be in the scanner. You can nap, read or even watch a television program during the exam. Plus, a friend or family member can sit and chat with you.

Tell your doctor if you have:

- Aneurysm clips
- Cardiac pacemaker
- Metal plate/pins
- Joint replacement
- Cochlear implants
- If you think you are pregnant

SPECIAL NOTES:

Please DO NOT bring the following (or any metal items) into the examination room:

- ◆ Jewelry
- ◆ Money clip
- ◆ Credit Cards
- ◆ Keys
- ◆ Pocket Knife
- ◆ Watch

What do MRI images look like?

MRI images look similar to conventional x-rays; however, they provide significantly more information. Our radiologists are specially trained to read your musculoskeletal MRI and provide an expert diagnosis.

Extremity MRI: Safe and Peaceful Examination

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) is a safe and totally painless way for your physician to look inside your body. The images created during the exam look at structures inside the body and provide information that can help your doctor determine your diagnosis. Unlike some other diagnostic tests, MRI does not use radiation.
